

CAREER PATHWAYS EMPLOYMENT PROGRAM

Program Objectives

The program's objective is to provide manufacturing employers with talented, ready-to-work employees, while also defraying some of the costs and headaches associated with finding new talent.

To meet your manufacturing talent needs, AMEP has partnered with the Career Pathways Employment Program (CPEP). Together, we developed a workforce development pipeline program intended to consolidate & coordinate funders, educators, and other workforce development activities.

Benefits

Training is funded with potential wage subsidies available

Employer involvement in defining workforce development training elements

AMEP Workforce Development Team manages the process including vetting candidates, securing the funding and monitoring of the candidates through the process.

Process

Being an employer centric program, we start with the employer to understand their needs which is the input to our process.

Vetting & Training provides foundational skills required to start as a paid intern or apprentice.

Work Based Learning only provides required skills as an entry-level technician.

The goal is to better know the program candidates and understand their existing skills, willingness to learn and dependability prior to the entering the workforce.
